A CLOSE CALL.

Joe Bogness Wanted to Die,
But the Ball Missed a Vital Spot.

A farmer by the name of J. W. Bogness, whose home is in Anderson county, came to this city Saturday evening, went to a house on North Wilkinson street, and while there drew a pistol, and placing the muzzle to his left breast, fired. The ball passed through his lung just above the heart and lodged under the skin of his back, being where it was cut out by Dr. J. L. Price. He evidently wanted to die and expected the shot to prove fatal, as he had written a note giving his reasons for taking his life, saying it was not the act of a coward or a crazy man, but from his previous actions his friends are inclined to differ with him on the last proposition. He was taken to the boarding-house of Mr. J. S. Head, where he now lies in a critical condition, attended by his brother.

The Band Picnic.

The picnic given by the Second Regiment Band at Thorn Hill Park on Monday was a very nice affair but the receipts not very satisfactory. During the day the attendance was light and the crowd which saw the game of base ball in the afternoon between the Rhodes-Burford and the Midway club—which resulted in a score of 14 to 8 in favor of the former—was small. The climbing of the greased pole by the small boys was a very amusing feature of the day, the prize being won by Master George Robb, who after several ineffectual efforts finally reached the top and carried off the violin, sail boat, toy gun and four bags of pop corn. When the shades of evening began to draw on the outgoing cars began to fill up and by eight o'clock a large crowd of young people was present, who engaged in the dance and enjoyed the cool breezes which fanned the hill tops. It was twelve o'clock before the crowd had all gone and the electric lights in the park were shut off.

New Broom Factory.

Mr. W. W. Richardson, formerly superintendent of the broom department at the Feeble-minded school, has opened a broom factory at the corner of High and Main streets, where he is preparing to turn out a first class article, which he will sell at low rates to dealers. He has not yet gotten in all his machinery but expects to receive it in a few days, when he will set a full force of hands to work. Mr. Richardson has long experience in the business and will be able to make a better article than has been in the market here for a long time.

Hurt While Bathing.

Mr. Will. A. Lewis put on his bathing suit at his home on the West Side Wednesday evening, swam across the river to the rafts of sawlogs near Congleton Bros' mill, climbed upon a raft and started to dive from one of the large sweeps used in guiding the raft in bringing it down the river, which had been so placed that it could be used as a spring board by the boys who have been in the habit of bathing there, and while walking out to the end of it the sweep suddenly turned over, causing him to fall and strike his side upon the edge of its blade, bruising his left hip so severely that he could not use his limb in walking. Some parties happened to be passing in a boat, who set him across the river, and he managed to reach home without assistance, but has since been using crutches to get about.

A New Class Opened.

Class O in the People's Home stead and Savings Association will be opened on Monday, offering another first rate chance for laboring people and mechanics who wish to make small weekly savings, to place their money where they will receive good and sure returns. This Association is doing what no other similar institution has done in this city—going right along maturing and paying off classes every six months, and paying to its members handsome profits on their investments. There is nothing short about the People's Homestead, it is solid and well managed and you can make no mistake if you take shares in it next week.

Mammoth Rabbit's Foot.

Mr. R. C. Nicol has received from his brother, Mr. Jas. W. Nicol, who lives in the State of Washington, the hind foot of a Snow shice rabbit which is about six times the size of the foot of an ordinary rabbit and has more the appearance of a claw than a foot, the toes being long, spread wide apart and covered by a heavy coat of fur. Its fur is of a yellowish white color and the foot large enough to bring Bob all the luck he could possibly wish for.

Beat His Record.

Prof. T. M. Turner, who is always the first of our gardeners to have roasting ears from his garden, beat even his own record this year, for he gathered several ears from his patch on Monday, which is several days ahead of his best time heretofore.

Dr. Waller H. Lewis.

Waller H. Lewis, son of Dr. John A. Lewis, of Georgetown, formerly of this county, graduated with honors from the Dental Department of Central University at Louisville last week.

The Sick.

Major H. T. Stanton is so far improved as to get out and sit up on his front porch and Mr. D. C. Burritt is also so much better as to be able to drive down town.

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

FURNISHED BY GLOVER & DURRETT, LOUISVILLE TOBACCO WAREHOUSE.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amount to 3,544 hhds., with receipts for the same period of 2,792 hhds. Sales on our market since January 1st amount to 98,038 hhds. Sales of the crop of 1894 on the market to this date amount to 98,202 hhds.

The offerings this week have shown a rather larger percentage of good to fine burley leaf than usual, and the market for such goods has developed increased activity and strength. Numerous sales were made at prices from $15 to $25 per hundred, with occasional sales from $22 to $25, and one hoghead was sold at $28, the "record" price for the season. The market closed somewhat irregular and slightly easier for the very common and low medium grades.

We have made extensive investigation, both by mail and telegrams, regarding the extent of the recent rains. The rain extended over the greater part of the dark tobacco producing sections, furnishing a splendid tobacco planting season. The burley territory tributary to Louisville has fine rains and the transplanting in that section may be considered, as having been practically completed.

The holders of the unmarketed burley tobacco believe that the situation justifies higher values than are now current for the medium grades and are expecting to see an improvement in prices for such.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for burley tobacco 1894 crop:

Trashed (dark) damaged tobacco.....$1.80 @ $2.75
Common color.....3.75 @ 5.50
Medium to good color.....2.50 @ 4.00
Common lug not color.....2.50 @ 4.00
Common color lug.....4.00 @ 5.50
Medium to good color.....5.50 @ 8.50
Common to good leaf.....10.00 @ 15.00
Good to fine leaf.....15.00 @ 18.00
Select or wrappery.....18.00 @ 25.00

Kentucky Sunday-school Union.

July 2 to 10th the Midland will sell tickets to Lexington and return at $1.15. On July 11th at 8c. C. D. Bercau, Gen. Passenger Ag't.

Base Ball.

The Greenville, Miss., Times, of June 22d contains the following:

This has been a week of "mud games," and in consequence the attendance has been very light and the sport not near so interesting. A team that claimed to be semi-professional came from Memphis last week, and "great ball" was expected, but the reverse was the result. The Memphis crew were "not in it." Our boys batted their pitchers in the first and second games without any trouble, making 10 runs in the first game, while Merchant, Greenville's excellent pitcher, did not allow a Memphis man to cross the home plate. Lacourage served the "semis" a dish of almost the same gruel, allowing only one of the Tennesseans to reach home. Greenville scored 6 times in this game. The third was the most interesting of the three games played. Two of Greenville's players were absent, and substitutes filling their places, put the teams on a more equal basis. Neither of Greenville's regular pitchers were in the box, while Memphis had their best man filling that position. But even with this advantage over our boys the score was close—3 to 2 in favor of Memphis. The team will leave to-night for Baton Rouge, where they will play three games. The Baton Rouge club will return with them and three games will be played next week at Athletic Park.

In regard to the two games at Baton Rouge, Bob Tilford writes that Merchant pitched the first one and won it for Greenville by a score of 3 to 2. The second game was also won by Greenville by the same score. In this game Merchant played in left field and "eat up" seven flies.

We warn the public to drive very carefully over the St. John's turnpike. There is not much ruttle and the bedding is almost all gone and the ruts are very deep; but the managers do not omit to collect the toll all the same. It is said by some that this turnpike company has no charter.

A STUDY OF THE COXEY'S ARMY MOVEMENT.

Two Lessons for Educators.

GEO. ROBBINS.

The average citizen of the United States is fairly well posted on events as they present themselves to his notice, but frequently he takes merely a superficial view of an event, and considers it a huge joke. The flippant, sensational reports of the newspapers are sometimes misleading, causing one to reach conclusions not justified by facts. There are those, however, who feel that any movement of a body of people, whether it be the action of a settled community, or of a hastily organized band of men, is worthy of a more serious study than the ordinary newspaper correspondent is capable of making.

Men or communities act in accordance with a choice they have made. The choice is the result of the desire which stimulates them. To study the actions of a man, or of a body of men, is to discover the incentives or causes which impel to action.

When Coxey's army marched toward Washington some of our leading universities in various parts of our land and at various times sent competent professors of political science and social economics to study the movement. These professors joined the army at various places, marched with it several days and made careful observations and critical studies, all of which agree most remarkably with each other. The following are among the facts observed.

The members of Coxey's army were young men, many of them being mere boys, lacking judgment. They could all read and write, and were more than ordinarily intelligent. They were of American nationality, there being very few foreigners found among them. They were largely such persons as had learned no trade, ordinary laborers with no means of steady support, who, when stringent times arrive are the first to feel the depression, and consequently the first to suffer privations. The fact that they had no trades prevented them from co-operating for mutual assistance, and also from joining those trades unions which were assisting unemployed members. This was truly a most pitiable condition, enforced idleness presaging starvation, and no ray of hope for relief.

One conclusion reached is, that the intelligence of those constituting the army was the principal reason why there was so little rioting and disorder. An ignorant body of men would have been more vicious and destructive, if they could possibly have effected an organization. This restraint, due to intelligence, is a compliment for the public schools of the land and encouragement to teachers.

Another conclusion—that is needed for the public schools all over the land to recognize the necessity which exists for industrial education as an element of the course of study.

The facts here stated are most forcible arguments for some form of industrial education to be given during school life, as a means of moral training. The two lessons are:

First—Intelligence restrains viciousness.

Second—Occupation conduces to morality.

A CATCHER CAUGHT.

A Boy Tackles the Business End of a Turtle.

The Paris Kentuckian-Citizen gives an account of two boys, sons of Robert Link, aged respectively six and twelve years, who were playing near a pond about five miles from Paris when they saw a large turtle which they concluded to capture. The larger boy waded in the pond and jumped on the turtle's back, when he called upon his younger brother to catch the turtle by the tail, as the turtle was under the water, but instead of catching it by the tail, he put his hand in its mouth. The turtle shut its jaws upon the little fellow's hand and was dragging him into deep water where he would no doubt have been drowned, but their father heard the screams of his two sons and galloped to the scene, when he killed the turtle and prevented the drowning of his son. The weight of the turtle was forty pounds.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

Entered at the post-office at Frankfort, Kentucky, as second-class matter March 1, 1895.

GEO. A. LEWIS, Editor and Pub.

FRANKFORT, JUNE 29, 1895.

The Reason Why.

The latter part of May we sent out bills to a number of our subscribers who receive their papers by mail, notifying them of their indebtedness, and requesting that they give the matter their attention. Those who cared to have the paper continued responded promptly, but quite a number have paid no attention. Taking their silence to mean that they neither wish to have the paper continued nor to pay the little back difference due, we will drop their names from the list next week, and if you are one of those who has treated us with silent contempt this is the last paper you will receive until you liquidate.

FRIENDSHIP REPAID.

How Franklin County Turned Her Back Upon a Friend in Need.

When the fight on the capital removal question was before the late Constitutional Convention and Frankfort was in danger of losing that for which she had fought for years to hold, she had no more staunch friend in that body, or one who struck more willing blows in her behalf than the Hon. W. C. McChord, delegate from Washington county. Early in the 70's the same fight was on in the Legislature and Mr. D. C. Hardin was then a clerk in the Auditor's office, having come here from Nelson county. He went to work manfully for Frankfort, though having no interest in this city other than a temporary sojourner, and succeeded in getting the members of the Legislature from his part of the State to stand by us in that fight, thus helping the city to hold the capital. Since then Dave Hardin has become more closely allied to us, having married a Frankfort girl and is again among us as a resident.

On Monday Hon. C. C. McChord, a friend to Frankfort, a brother of Hon. W. C. McChord and a close friend of Mr. D. C. Hardin, was a candidate for Railroad Commissioner before the Democratic District Convention at Louisville. The delegation from Franklin county knew or should have known that by standing right up to Mr. McChord when he needed them they could repay in part the debt of gratitude they owed his brother, and that if he was elected Dave Hardin would be secure in his position as clerk of the Railroad Commission—a place he needs now that his hair is whitening under time's unfriendly touch and he has a large family dependent upon him. Was there an honest effort made by Frankfort's representatives to return friendship for friendship? Let's see? On the first ballot they voted for Hon. Joe McCain, which was all right as he, too, had been our friend in the past, but left him when other delegates began to come to him to save his name from being dropped; then complimented Mr. McChord with their vote, but when the pinch came and votes counted they deserted him also and cast Franklin's eleven votes solidly for Hon. George Alexander, of Jefferson county, an avowed enemy of Frankfort, a man who introduced a bill into the Legislature to remove the capital to Louisville and wanted it removed anywhere to get it out of this sinkhole—when by sticking to Mr. McChord to the last he would have won the nomination, and it would have been shown that the people of this city and county appreciated a kindness and did not forget a friend and desert him in the hour of need.

Frankfort will need friends in the future as sorely as she has in the past, and if this is the way we repay them, those who have lent us a helping hand will turn from us with scorn and mock when our calamity cometh.

Brought to Taw.

A regimental court martial convened at the Adjutant General's office in this city Monday, composed of Major Allen, Captain Hugh A. Daniel, Lieutenant Sharpely, and Lieutenant A. T. Kirtley, all of the Second Regiment, Kentucky State Guards, for the trial of several privates of one of the Lexington companies and a private of the McCreary Guards of this city, for refusal to attend drill and insubordination. The whole of Monday and part of Tuesday was taken up with the hearing of evidence in the Frankfort case, while the Lexington cases consumed the balance of the time until Wednesday. The court made up its finding in each case and forwarded the papers to the Judge Advocate General for approval, and will be sent by him to the Governor, and until approved by his Excellency will not be given to the public.

As the F. F. V. Limited is the only train running through from Cincinnati to New York that enables the business men to transact business in Cincinnati one day and New York the next. It is the only train for Jersey City Coast resorts, which are reached by the F. F. V. at dinner time instead of in the evening. It is the only train that enables business men to transact business in Cincinnati one day and reach Washington for breakfast the next morning. It is the most desirable train for New England resorts, connections being made in the Union Depot in Washington with the Colonial Express running through to Boston which reaches New Haven 4:10 p. m., New London 5:30 p. m., Providence 7:15 p. m. and Boston 8:30 p. m. The F. F. V. is the only modern train lighted throughout with Electricity, carrying a Dining Car and an Observation Car.

The Washington and Atlantic Express, also an Electric Lighted Vestibuled train, will leave Cincinnati at 7:00 p. m., reaching Washington 2:40 p. m. and Old Point Comfort 6:00 p. m. Connection is made at Washington with the Boston Express or the Limited, reaching New York about 9:00 p. m. At Norfolk connection is made with the Old Dominion Steamship Line, reaching New York 3:00 p. m. the next day.

Base Ball.

A fairly well played game was that between the Frankfort and Lexington clubs at Thorn Hill Park on Tuesday. For the first five innings the score was very close, but in the sixth and seventh the home club obtained a commanding lead and held it to the finish. The battery work of Stagg and Wiard and Henry Lindsey's batting were the features of the locals play. The score is given in full below. Attendance very small.

The Mt. Eden and the Frankfort Clubs will play a game of ball at Thorn Hill Park this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The Mt. Edens are a strong team and a good game is expected. It was this club that produced Stratton, the great pitcher, and has some good ones left in that locality.

Will Settle the Estate.

Hon. Grant Green, sr., was on Monday qualified as executor of the estate of Major Lewis E. Harvie, deceased, and will proceed to settle up the affairs of said decedent. By his will Major Harvie left all of his property to his brother, Mr. John S. Harvie, with the exception of bequests of family relics to friends.

FROM AFRICA INTO EUROPE

A View of Austria's Capital City.

Below we give perhaps the last letter Rev. George Darsie will write for the Roundabout before his return, which will be the latter part of next week. We shall, however, continue to republish his letters from the Christian Guide, as so many of our readers have become interested in them.

VIENNA, AUSTRIA.

June 12, 1895.

Dear Roundabout:

I am now in a position to appreciate the advantages of the European civilization over that of Asia and Africa. Words are weak to tell what I feel in regard to the difference between the two. Constantinople is on the dividing line, with a decided leaning toward the Asiatic. The Ottoman Empire in Europe is an importation of what belongs to another continent, and the sooner it is driven back into that continent the better. With a great sense of relief we quitted the Sultan's dominions and Capital City. And as we rolled along toward the heart of Europe, through Bulgaria and across the Balkans into Serbia and Hungary, the more we enjoyed it. It was a beautiful country we saw, highly cultivated and fertile, presenting us a ceaseless panorama of alternating wheat fields, corn fields and meadows, and growing richer and finer the farther we went.

We came to Budapest, the capital of Hungary, but now incorporated into the Austrian Empire. It is a city of half a million, situated on both sides of the Danube, and with broad streets and splendid squares of stone buildings, equal to any I ever saw. It was clean and quiet, and its men and women went about in the sensible European dress, of which we had seen very little for months and months. I had not looked upon a single handsome lady (among the natives) in all the Orient. Now they thronged the streets and it was a delight to behold them. After twenty-four hours in Budapest we made the run of six hours to Vienna, where I now am. The finest agricultural region I have seen in Europe, and one of the finest I ever saw anywhere, was spread out before us. Only one drawback attended the lovely picture—we saw two women digging in the fields where we saw one man. To the eyes of a citizen of gallant old Kentucky that was not a pleasant sight.

We find Vienna a magnificent city of over a million and a half inhabitants. Its attractions are innumerable. A walk around the Ringstrasse (which encircles the original city) shows you an array of public buildings and gardens more imposing and attractive than you can put on paper. It abounds in Museums, picture galleries, elegant squares and tasteful shops, and is the perfection of cleanliness. It would require a fortnight to fully see all the sights. We paid a visit to the Rathaus or city hall, which cost eight million dollars, and was dedicated in 1883, in celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the final defeat of the Turks in their efforts to capture the city. It is a building of magnificent appointments and of impressive architecture. The Parliament House just opposite, crowded with beautiful statuary and with a sweeping roadway circling up to its front entrance, is perhaps the finest building in the city. But you admire so many things, and there are so many things to admire, that it is hard to decide what is really best.

We paid a visit to the Schonbrunn, the summer palace of the Emperor, but which, with its spacious grounds, is also a public park thrown open to all the people. As we were taken through its handsome apartments, I was particularly caught by a room finished in rosewood mosaics and fine paintings on copper. Not because it was so specially attractive, but because it is called the "million room." The reason why was that it cost a million florins or half a million dollars! Of course we visited St. Stephen's Church, one of the finest Gothic Churches in Europe, with a 450 foot spire, and the Augustine Church which has a chapel contain: five urns which hold the hearts of five Austrian Emperors, and the Capuchin Church which contains the burial vault of the imperial family. For two hundred years the members of the House of Hapsburg have here found a resting place. There are 110 caskets in all. Maria Theresa is here, and her husband, father and mother. So is the Duke of Reichstadt, son of the Great Napoleon and Marie Louise, who died at 23 and here sleeps b-side his mother. But no casket was more touching in tragic interest than that pointed out to "Maximilian of Mexico." The story of his short and sad career on our own continent will come back to all who read these lines.

There are some funny street scenes in Vienna. Among them are the carts drawn by a dog hitched on one side and a man or woman on the other, and the one horse wagons, where instead of shafts there is a tongue, and the horse is harnessed to one side of it. You are always wondering where the other horse is.

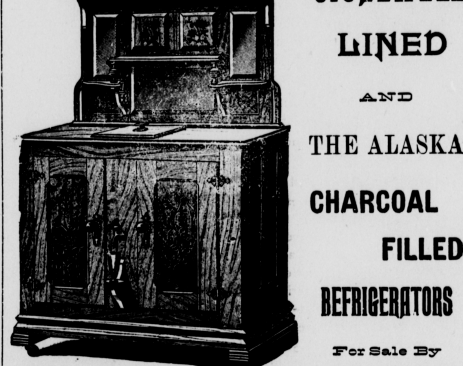

The people of Vienna are a quiet, well-behaved people, as you see them on the street, polite to strangers and willing even to put themselves out to answer your inquiries or show you what you want to see.

GEORGE DARSIE.

Like a Seive.

The chief function of the kidneys is to separate from the blood, in its passage through them, of certain impurities and watery particles which make their final exit through the bladder. The retention of these, in consequence of frigit of the kidneys, is productive of frigit of the system, dropsy, diabetes, albuminuria and other malady with a fatal tendency. Montetier's Stomach Bitters, a highly sanctioned diuretic and blood purifier, impels the kidneys when inactive to remove the stilted matter, and thus prevents the vital current impurities which infect it and thus prevent the system from being arrested at the very crux of the bladder, gravel and retention of urine are also relieved. Montetier's Stomach Bitters, which is also specially beneficial to the weak and nervous.

TO SURPRISE THE PASTOR.

Some Handsome Improvements at the Christian Church.

The congregation of the Christian Church, in anticipation of the return of their pastor, Rev. George Darsie, from his trip to the Holy Land, next week, have made some neat and handsome improvements upon their church property. The old brick walks in the yard, leading to the chapel and pastor's study, have been taken up and replaced with handsome artificial stone ones, the steps leading up to the pastor's study door have been removed and replaced with a neat and ornamental portico, a new Brussels carpet has supplanted the old one in the audience room, the chandelier has been removed from the center of the ceiling and will be replaced by electric lights, the chandelier taken out of the audience room has been put up in the chapel and that portion of the church recarpeted, overhauled and repaired. Everything has been done very quietly lest the news might be wafted across the water to Mr. Darsie and now when he returns he will find not only a hearty welcome but a pleasant surprise awaiting him.

U. V. WILLIAMS.

Chairman State Board of Examiners.

Dr. Baxter returned Thursday from Lexington where he had been in attendance at the meeting of the Kentucky State Dental Association. He was elected Chairman of the State Board of Examiners, and also of the committee appointed to advise with the State Board of Health—the body that has done such excellent work of late in ridding the State of quack medical men—as to the feasibility of framing a law so that the said board will in the future look after the illegal practitioners of dental surgery in the State.

Smith Hung.

"Bad Tom" Smith, the mountain desperado, was hung at Jackson, Breathitt county, yesterday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock.

Nice Walks.

The Frankfort Artificial Stone Co. is still putting in nice work all over the city, having recently laid one of the hexagonal block walks for Mr. Virgil Hewitt, from his front gate to the door of his residence on Wapping street and are now putting down a solid block walk in front of the residence of Mrs. L. A. Thomas on Washington street. The walks at the Christian Church were also put in by it.

Matrimonial.

GORE-HALL—Mr. John B. Gore, of Indiana, and Miss Izella Hall, of Owen county, were married at the County Clerk's office on Wednesday by County Judge Ben. G. Williams.

HANCOCK-BAKER—Mr. Graves Hancock and Miss Susan Baker were married Wednesday at the home of the bride, near Switzer, this county.

KLAREN-BAUER—Mr. Nicholas Klaren and Miss Emelia Bauer were married in this city on Wednesday.

Successfully Launched.

One of the barges built by the Government on Bosworth street, West Side, was launched Thursday morning. When the props were knocked out she slid down the ways and took the water like a duck. Only three of the workmen were on her, although a small crowd had gathered to witness the event.

DEATHS.

CHISM—Mr. Green Chism, an old and highly respected resident of this county, died at his home near Bald Knob on Sunday. His funeral took place Monday afternoon.

Barn Burned.

The large barn of Mr. Jas. A. Holt, who lives on the old Judge Innes or Capt. Harry Todd farm, on the Peak's Mill pike, was destroyed by fire Tuesday night.

Pea Ridge.

Frequent showers and excellent crops. Gardens that a few weeks ago were suffering from the cut worms are now in splendid condition.

The piety of the ridge is too well known to need comment.

Rev. H. M. Polsgrove will conduct a protracted meeting at the schoolhouse on the Benson pike, commencing this evening at half past seven. Notice is also given that the same gentleman will preach at Pea Ridge schoolhouse to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

Rev. James Crates, of the Methodist Church, preached at the schoolhouse on the Benson pike last Sunday night. Mr. Crates is well and favorably known here. Our people first made his acquaintance some years ago when he came through here, being then connected with the Salvation Army.

Rev. Dr. Blayney preached at the schoolhouse last Sunday week. All our people will be very glad to hear him again.

Mr. A. N. Tracy's baby, who has been very sick, is much better.

The Ridge is billed with the announcement that the Populists of Franklin county will hold a convention at the courthouse July 1st to nominate a candidate for the Legislature and send delegates to the State Convention at Louisville July 4th.

Mr. Gordon's little son, Alec, was so unfortunate as to fall off a fence and break his arm last week, but is now getting better.

Two of our young men, exercising their constitutional right to free speech, gave rise to the absurd story that there was a fight during divine service here last Sunday week. Both orators only need a little ashes and sack cloth to make their repentance complete. What their remarks lacked in politeness was more than made up for by the earnest, vehement manner of delivery; but there was no fight. Mr. Editor, nor any resemblance to one, nor anything to manufacture a fight of. If the well-meaning but misguided gentleman who tried to persuade the young men to give up their free speech right for the present by threats of the grand jury, with all its attendant horrors, had only just gotten some weapons and offered to arm the pair of them, they would have instantly been convinced of the truth of this statement.

It is understood that Miss Nanine Baker will teach the Pea Ridge school this session.

The school trustees have made a levy of ten cents on the $100 worth of property for school purposes. They had the right, it seems, to levy twenty-five cents on the $100 for four years, but not wishing to collect more than was absolutely necessary to pay the claims they fixed the tax at ten cents for one year. The district treasurer will be at the schoolhouse July 20th to receive the tax. After that date the treasurer will be compelled to give a list of those who fail to pay to the sheriff for collection, with increased percentage and penalty attached.

Mr. John Dooley will teach the Dalton school in Shelby county this session. Mr. Dooley taught two sessions here, besides subscription schools, and gave satisfaction to the pupils and patrons. The trustees and patrons of the Dalton school are to be congratulated on securing the services of Mr. Dooley, who is a good teacher and a very clever gentleman.

Messrs Polk and Ben Tracy are going to Louisville on the 4th of July with their command, the McCreary Guards.

Mr. Jim Tracy has a first class cabbage and melon patch.

The grain crop here, rye, wheat and oats are pronounced good. Nearly all the wheat is cut, some few fields of rye seem to be too ripe.

Our people have all been so busy that they scarcely have time to go to town to learn anything of politics. Some are of course grumbling, but politics were never in better shape. A voter can favor either silver, gold, paper, high or low tariff and yet be a consistent member of the Democratic or Republican parties.

Mr. Stoops, of Kansas, who bought the Russell farm, arrived here several weeks ago, but as his farm had been rented by the agent for two years he can't of course get possession. Mr. Stoops and his family are encamped in the wagon in which they made the journey from Kansas in six weeks. Mr. Stoops has been busy fencing since his arrival; has hauled lumber and will shortly commence to build.

Quite a number of the friends of Col. Breckinridge were pleased to see him in Frankfort last week where he argued the case of the people of Lexington against their officials and got a decision in his favor. The mayor and officials of Lexington thought that under the new charter they had a right to hold their offices for a term to which they had never been elected without so much as saying by your leave. Nearly all the city officials voted against Col. Breckinridge last primary, nominating Owens by 265. Superstitious Breckinridge men said there was no luck in the majority figures for Owens because added together they make 13. The Breckinridge forces, to a man, supported Judge Denny, the Republican rival of Owens Denny will undoubtedly be given a seat in the present Congress. This gets even with Owens's supporters. But the Breckinridge men are not through yet, for this decision of the Court of Appeals compels the official to run for a re-election and there are enough Breckinridge voters to prevent them getting nominated, or if nominated to join the Republicans to prevent their election, then look at all the fine fat offices—street inspectors, health officers, fire department, poor-house, police and street hands. All these places to be filled and the Breckinridge voters are in clover. Return ye sinners home, their royal feast that is spread.

A petition is being circulated here for signatures asking the county court to open the polls to take the sense of the people on the free pike question.

Mr. Will Hawkins and Mr. Walker Chambers were elected school trustees at our last election.

THE FOURTH AT THE PARK.

The Day Will be Celebrated With Games and Other Amusements.

All of our merchants and other business men should close up their places of business on Thursday next, the Fourth, and let their clerks and other employees enjoy the day as may suit their fancy, and there will be no occasion for anyone to go away from home for amusement, as Thorn Hill Park will furnish everything of that kind, and it only requires a short and pleasant ride on the street cars to get there. There will be two games of ball, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, between two good clubs, besides a tug of war pulling match for a prize, and dancing in the pavilion. You can go out and take your family to spend the day under the shade of the trees and make your dinner off the splendid burgoon which will be supplied on the grounds, if you do not care for the sports or dancing. It is a pleasant place, on high ground where every breeze which is stirring will find you and the price of admission is so small that anyone can afford to go out there and have a pleasant, quiet day of it or join in the fun and make all the noise they desire.

Has Been There.

A gentleman on the "Square" talks to our neighbor of the Capital as follows:

"You can talk about your well organized orchestras and your splendidly trained opera troupes if you want to, but we have something in South Frankfort that beats 'em all," said a reputable South Sider as he busied himself with his work in one of the State House offices.

"Well, let's have it," said an inquisitive bystander.

"A dog opera," said the South Sider. "A full-blown, hand-painted and burnt-in dog opera. Sing? Well, you should hear it some night about one o'clock. The leader is a little scrappy fice with a keen yelp. He goes around and wakes up all the other dogs, and then takes his stand in some convenient place and sounds the key-note. The others then drop in as regular as clock work. First, the tenor from over by Berry's big yard, followed by a couple of sopranos from Della Walcutt's and Dr. Reynolds' neighborhood. Then the big bass from Charley Saffell's yard comes in, accompanied by two or three of the cultivated baritones near by. After a few rounds altogether, there comes a lull. Then the soloist commences on an ar-row-row-ria, lasting five minutes. This is by the scrappy little prima-donna leader, with Stod Stanton's pug as accompanist. They never make a mistake or skip a performance."

Come over some night and listen for yourself, for I'm not up on musical terms and can't give you a correct idea of their system."

To appreciate the above to the fullest extent you want to bring along a sick headache or be so nervous as not to be able to sleep, which will enable you to enjoy all the fine parts of the music. If you have never cussed in your life, but listen to them once and you will become a prize winner in that line, and be able to abuse, in the most choice and artistic language, the entire canine tribe, bark, tail and bite, from Alapacca to Omaha.

Colored Odd Fellows.

The District Lodge of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows will meet in this city on Tuesday, July 9th, and remain in session several days. On Friday, the 12th, there will be a grand parade through the streets of the city, with a picnic and prize drill at Thorn Hill Park. It is expected that there will be several thousand in the parade, one thousand of whom will be uniformed Patriarchs.

Hand Mashed.

It was rumored on the streets yesterday that one of the employees at the Kentucky River Mills had his hand cut off in the machinery at that institution, but it turns out that Frank Blane, one of the hands in the mill, only had his right hand caught and mashed while at work around one of the machines. No serious damage was done and he will be able to go to work again soon.

For a Long Term.

To-morrow being the fifth Sunday—no preaching at Buck Run Sunday-school as usual and prayer meeting at night.

In consequence of throat trouble, pastor Mitchell has been unable to fill his regular appointments at Buck Run for the past month. Rev. J. L. Stricker, of Mississippi, has been supplying his place.

The abundant rains we have had recently causes bright crop prospects.

Mr. George Goddard, of Lexington, visited his father's family at this place last week.

School teachers are hustling around lively seeking employment. Well about half of the number will get left. Such is life.

Mrs. Mary Newman, who has been quite sick recently, we are glad to announce has about entirely recovered.

Wheat harvest has been occupying the attention of the farmers for the past two weeks. The crop is fairly good, though probably not so excellent as at first anticipated.

Miss Hannah Newman has returned home from a visit to relatives in Louisville.

Mr. Frank Ely, of Lexington, visited relatives in our midst last week.

Mrs. Lina Jayne, son and daughter, of Foxport, have returned home from a visit to her brother, Mr. M. B. Lucas and family of this vicinity.

Mr. Allie Cannon, wife and child and sister, Miss Lena, all of Missouri, were called to our village last week on account of the death of their father, Mr. T. T. Cannon.

Vegetables are quite plentiful in this section. No danger therefore of starving, although flour, meal and meat have about passed out of reach of poor people.

Mr. T. T. Cannon, an old and highly esteemed citizen of our town, who was stricken with paralysis a short time since, died June 20th, 1895. He was a consistent member of the Baptist church—modest and unassuming in his life, he gained the confidence and esteem of all. He leaves a wife, four sons and three daughters, besides a large circle of other relatives and friends to mourn his loss. May God's sustaining grace comfort them in this sad hour, is the sincere prayer of a true friend.

Mrs. R. F. Beaman and little daughter, of St. Augustine, Florida, are visiting friends in our village.

Mr. A. S. Hedden, Dr. Everett Hawkins and Misses Mary Paxton, Sallie and Kate Sampson, all of Harrisonville, Shelby county, were the guests of Bro. Burdin and family last Wednesday and Thursday.

Quite a number of our people attended the closing exercises of the public school in Frankfort last week and were highly delighted and much edified with the proceedings. Prof. Rhoads, together with his assistants, deserve much praise for their faithfulness in their work of instructing the young.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
